Help when it's most needed

SkyTrack lets your workers be confident that help is only a button-press away. Our Australian-based Control Room staff receive your request for help along with your current location. They make contact through the device, verify the emergency, and contact Emergency Services on your behalf. If requested, the nearest available private security patrol can also be dispatched to your location.

Support your team

Independent Workers (without a colleague) in a business premises or remote location are also working with a higher degree of uncertainty, stress and risk of injury. Workers who are connected and know they can get help, are more confident and better able to focus on the task at hand.

Employers that don't make provisions for staff working alone can face lower productivity and higher stress levels amongst staff - and may be open to litigation if found in breach of the Work Health and Safety Act.

Easy-to-use online tracking and reporting

SkyTrack's online tracking and reporting platform provides live and historical access to all information collected by our devices. Easily run reports to see places visited, time spent onsite, or a history of any alarms raised. Schedule reports to run daily/weekly/monthly and get them delivered straight to your inbox.

Reliable service, backed by a life-time warranty

The SkyTrack Platform is developed and hosted in Australia. Your data stays in Australia, and you choose how long the data is retained. You're covered by staff training, device support and a lifetime Australian-based replacement warranty. We assist in establishing your alarm escalation process, working safely within the community guidelines and SOPs.
